REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
TO THE MEMBERS OF THE PHILADELPHIA MUSEUM OF ART

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

This year was celebrated the tenth anniversary of the formal dedication of our new building, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, on May 29, 1928. It is interesting to review the advance of these ten years, years which witnessed economic hardships of unprecedented extent.

They have seen our endowment tripled, from three-quarters of a million dollars to two and a quarter. They have seen our accommodations quadrupled, from twenty rooms and galleries to over eighty, including twenty-three of antique architecture of various periods. They have seen an increase in our collections by purchases to the extent of two and a half million dollars, from funds given by private donors, transforming the Museum from one of provincial scope to one of national and international importance, covering a wide range in the history of art. During these ten years nearly seven million visitors came to enjoy our collections and to learn from them.

These advances have not been achieved without struggle, nor without personal sacrifice on the part of all who have worked or given to make them possible. Today the community recognizes the Museum as a civic asset of the first magnitude. We must rely on the generosity of public bodies as well as of private individuals for more ample support, proportionate with the wealth of our collections. The field of opportunity is great for development of popular education and enjoyment at the Museum as well as of professional education for the practice of the arts in our Schools.

The organization of a group of Friends of the Museum, undertaken last year, has been of the greatest assistance in carrying on our work without curtailment. A still wider participation would enable us to go forward and carry out many cherished plans for the benefit of our citizens.

DEGAS: Ballet Class
Purchased. Wilstach Fund Income

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE MUSEUM
TO THE PRESIDENT AND TRUSTEES OF THE PHILADELPHIA MUSEUM OF ART

I have the honour to present the following report:

The past year has been equally notable for great bequests, for the purchase of important works, and for progress in construction.

BEQUESTS

FRENCH ART: BEQUEST OF MRS. A. HAMILTON RICE

Among collectors of French decorative art none in our generation was more notable than the late Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice. In the drawing room of her New York house at 901 Fifth Avenue were assembled the choicest of her treasures in tapestries, sculpture, furniture, rugs, and Sèvres porcelain of the eighteenth century. It has been celebrated as an ensemble unmatched for the taste of selection and combination, in addition to the superb quality of the individual works of all classes. This drawing room, with its entire contents, Mrs. Rice bequeathed to our Museum Corporation, already enriched by many magnificent benefactions of her family, as well as by her own previous gift of the Louis XVI Room from the Hôtel Letellier in Paris. We are informed that we may expect to receive the room and collection in the course of 1938, bringing our installation in this field into the very first rank.

BEQUESTS OF OTHER COLLECTIONS

The late George Horace Lorimer, long a trustee of the Museum, formed a collection distinguished in many fields, especially in those of glass (both English and American), of furniture, and of Pennsylvania-German art. His will bequeathed many of these objects to the Museum, subject, however, to the discretion of his executors and trustees, to be exercised by October of 1938. We hope for a generous exercise of this discretion.

The late Arthur H. Lea, who inherited a considerable part of the extensive collection of paintings formed by his grandfather, Isaac Lea, between 1829 and 1852, bequeathed these paintings and some other objects to the City of Philadelphia to be placed in the Museum.

BEQUESTS OF FUNDS

Mr. Lea also bequeathed $50,000 to the City, the income to be used for the general purposes of the Museum. Other bequests of funds received included $2,000 from Miss Mary A. Combs; in addition we had notice of bequests of $10,000 from Mrs. Edgar V. Seeler and of $5,000 from Miss Susan S. Miles.

ACCESSIONS

PAINTINGS BY CÉZANNE AND DEGAS

By purchase of the Commissioners of Fairmount Park from the trust income of the Wilstach Fund, Cézanne's Grandes Baigneuses from the Pellerin Collection was added to the Wilstach Collection. There thus entered the Museum a work of importance in the history of modern art. The painting was included in the Cézanne Exhibition organized under the auspices of the Louvre and given at the Musée de l'Orangerie in 1936 and was characterized in the catalogue of this exhibition as "the most important composition of Cézanne." Likewise purchased for the Wilstach Collection was the Ballet Class of Degas, a work of the first quality. The painting was selected by Mary Cassatt for the collection of her brother Alexander J. Cassatt, in whose family it had descended.

Among other accessions we may signalize especially:

AMERICAN PAINTINGS

SCULPTURE

A stone group "Seals" by Anna Hyatt Huntington, presented on behalf of the artist.

ARCHITECTURE

A carved oak door, School of the Ile-de-France, 1516, from the Foulc Collection, given by Mrs. Herbert Cameron Morris.

Wood Block Prints, Japanese, 1740
 Purchased. George W. B. Taylor Fund

FURNITURE

A Philadelphia Queen Anne side chair bequeathed by Miss Adeline Worrell Fisher. Various Pennsylvania-German objects given by J. Stogdell Stokes.

METAL WORK

A pair of bronze candelabra, Venetian, XVI century, from the Foulc Collection, purchased from the McIlhenny Fund income.

Brass bowl, oriental work, XVI century and brass bowl inlaid with silver, Venice, XVI century, from the Foulc Collection, purchased from the Temple Fund income. Three pieces of English silver, late XVIII and early XIX centuries, given by Miss Lena Cadwalader Evans. Silver tea service by Philadelphia makers, late XVIII century, given by Miss Emily R. Ashbridge.

CERAMICS

Sèvres porcelain, 1772 to 1793, given by Mrs. Frederick W. W. Graham; and of Louis Philippe period, made for the château of Fontainebleau, bequeathed by Susan M. Watson; English "Delft" vase, Lambeth factory, XVIII century, purchased from the Elizabeth Wandell Smith Fund income.

EASTERN ART

A group of Japanese ceramics of exceptional quality; a hand scroll of famous places in China, Ming dynasty, printed from wood blocks, and a dated first edition of the "Manufacture of Cotton" executed by order of the Emperor Ch'ien Lung; three volumes of Japanese colour prints, dated 1740; a Chinese cloisonné vase, Ming dynasty, all purchased from the John T. Morris Fund income. A garniture of ritual objects of cloisonné enamel on gold filigree, K'ang Hsi period (1662-1722), given by Mrs. Charles M. Lea.

LOANS

Among the more notable groups of objects lent to the Museum were: the Gangnat Collection, primarily of the works of Renoir; eleven Chinese paintings lent by Walter C. Janney; a collection of Chinese porcelains lent by J. Mitchell Elliot; and several pieces of English and American silver lent by Mrs. Thomas Evans.

CONSTRUCTION

Interior construction by the Works Progress Administration proceeded with the aid of an additional federal grant of $231,000. Among the units completed were the Spanish Renaissance Room mentioned later, the West Foyer with seven galleries surrounding it, and the Chinese palace hall of the Ming period, given by the late Edward B. Robinette.

Other units which should be completed in the coming year are a portion of the oriental section, the galleries for transient exhibitions, the print galleries, the administrative offices, and the library.

INSTALLATIONS AND EXHIBITIONS

The Spanish Renaissance Room given by Mrs. Frank Thorne Patterson was installed with fine works of the period and opened with ceremony on December 2.

The new galleries on Floor A served to receive various study collections pending completion of the galleries on the first floor.

Particularly noteworthy has been the installation of the French galleries, where, with new accessions and with the loan of important collections, the level of quality has been kept extraordinarily high.

The transient exhibitions of the year, again including some very notable, were as follows:

RENOIR: LATER PHASES

Substantial sums to finance these exhibitions were generously given by Mrs. John A. Brown and Mrs. John D. McIlhenny.

The exhibition Problems of Portraiture was a feature of our demonstration of possibilities of æsthetic interpretation, financed by the Carnegie Corporation and conducted by Mr. Benson. It offered confrontations of related or contrasting interpretations of the portrait from its beginnings in Mesopotamia and Egypt to its current manifestations in photography and the film. An illustrative brochure was published by The American Federation of Arts. The exhibition was shown also with great success by the Phillips Memorial Gallery in Washington.

In the Daumier exhibition, organized by Mr. McIlhenny, the works assembled were of the first importance for merit, rarity and authenticity. A large number of the paintings were shown for the first time in America, the Louvre lending its Blanchisseuse and La soupe. The scientific catalogue was given additional permanent value through an interpretation by Claude Roger-Marx, and technical analyses by Messrs. Marceau and Rosen.

For the Benjamin West exhibition Mr. Marceau assembled substantially the whole body of his work in America. The catalogue represented the first scientific study of the artist to be undertaken in a century and rectified many misstatements long current, beside placing in clear relief the extraordinary influence which West exercised.

Beginning in February, we successively gave special prominence to a selected work under the title of the "Treasure of the Week," which was also illustrated weekly in the Evening Bulletin. With interpretative labels and photographs these showings ministered effectively to the enjoyment and enlightenment of visitors.

The Museum also participated in exhibitions elsewhere through numerous loans of works of art to other institutions in America and abroad.

EVENTS

Several events held specially for members of the Museum emphasized the privileges of membership. The annual reception for members this year was on the occasion of the private view of the Daumier exhibition, November 5. On March 4 a reception and private view of the Benjamin West exhibition was offered by the generosity of the Associate Committee of Women.

Through the courtesy of their owners two notable Philadelphia private collections were opened to members of the Museum on particular days—the Joseph E. Widener Collection in November and the John D. McIlhenny Collection in May, each with a large and appreciative attendance.

On several other occasions the Museum was used for important civic functions, notably in connection with the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution. On May 12, during the 25th anniversary of the founding of The Garden Club of America, a great dinner was served in the Museum with notable musical performances. For this occasion members and friends of the Garden Club undertook the adornment of the Cloister, Chapel, and antique rooms of the Museum with historical flower arrangements of a beauty which will long be memorable.

The Association of Art Museum Directors and the American Association of Museums held their meetings this year in Philadelphia, with suitable hospitality on the part of the Museum and its friends.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

In pursuance of our demonstration in æsthetic interpretation, financed by the Carnegie Corporation, the possibilities of several means were explored: visual comparison in exhibitions (as already described); the written word; oral interpretation.

The use of this last means was greatly facilitated by the renewal of our large WPA educational project, including this time, a number of qualified “exhibits lecturers,” who gave daily gallery talks on different aspects of the collections. Training of the entire personnel continued throughout the year. Such a trained force of "Museum guides," while more expensive, has obvious advantages over one of attendants whose duty is merely to guard the objects, and we must hope for its continuance.

The series of endowed lectures was devoted this year to "Vital Issues in American Art," the speakers being Lewis Mumford, Lin Yutang, Herbert J. Spinden, Mary R. Beard, and Rhys Carpenter.

CATALOGING

Under the efficient direction of Miss Wolfe great progress has been made on the immense task of cataloging objects received prior to 1917, with an organization of over forty specialized workers supplied by the Works Progress Administration. With the advice of Mr. Vanderbilt a system of microphotography for record has been devised which has attracted much attention in other institutions.

Miss Wolfe also had the assistance of several effective volunteer workers: the Misses Elinor Stewart Carson, Joan Hopkinson, and Elizabeth M. Rivinus.

RESEARCH AND PUBLICATION

The catalogues published by the Museum in connection with the Daumier and West exhibitions represented important contributions to knowledge, as did papers by Mr. Marceau and Mr. Rosen appearing in Technical Studies, and by Mr. Schuster in the learned journals devoted to oriental art.

PERSONNEL

David Rosen, who has collaborated with Mr. Marceau in several publications, was appointed Adviser in Technical Studies. Robert A. Franks, Jr., generously undertook during the year the study and care of the Museum's collection of watches.

FINANCIAL

INCOME

Our City appropriation, in spite of great efforts, has remained at $60,000, the same level as in 1937—only about 35% of that in 1931. It is quite insufficient by itself to insure even the minimum requirements of protection of the works of art belonging to the City and the ordinary maintenance of the building erected at municipal expense, to say nothing of making them largely available for the service of the public.

To continue our most essential services we have fortunately had help from many quarters. The Commissioners of Fairmount Park appropriated $3,000 from the income of the Wilstach Fund to keep the galleries of the Wilstach Collection open to the public. As proposed by our President last year there was organized a group of Friends of the Museum, listed elsewhere, who contribute substantial sums for operation. The total of such contributions this year, including those to support our exhibitions, was $43,725, without which it would have been quite impossible for our work to continue. Only a large increase of endowment by unrestricted bequests would relieve us of the heavy task of raising such sums by subscription annually.

Gifts of money for special purposes included: for flagpoles, flags, and floodlighting the Museum building, as well as for hospitality to the Association of Museums, from Mr. and Mrs. A. Atwater Kent; for painting at the Letitia Street house, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paul Busch; for boxwood on the parterres at Mount Pleasant, from Messrs. Charles Townsend Ludington, Nicholas S. Ludington, and Wright S. Ludington.

Another source of financial assistance, not available for expenses of ordinary operation, has enabled us, during the depression, to enlarge our educational service and to catch up with arrears of bygone years in the matter of records. During the past fiscal year the sums expended under grants of the Works Progress Administration have been as follows: for educational services, $36,097; for recording and photographing objects, $30,164. The grand total of funds made available for Museum operation from all sources for the year, including relief funds, was $222,449.

EXPENSE

It is not generally realized that the Philadelphia Museum of Art presents a most creditable record in economy of operation as compared with other similar institutions. While we realize that the services offered the public may differ in extent, we do feel that the economy of operation achieved here justifies the belief that any additional funds would be fruitfully employed.

Respectfully submitted,

Fiske Kimball
Director.

Bronze Candelabra. Venetian, XVI Century
Purchased. McIlhenny Fund Income

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL

TO THE PRESIDENT AND TRUSTEES OF THE PHILADELPHIA MUSEUM OF ART

I have the honor to present the following report of the two Schools—The Philadelphia Textile School and The School of Industrial Art:

ATTENDANCE

The number of students registered in the two schools for the scholastic year of 1937-1938 was 1,614—divided as follows:

ART SCHOOL

Day School . . . . .	522
Evening School . . . . .	300
Saturday School . . . . .	204	1,026

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Day School . . . . .	178
Evening School . . . . .	410	588
Total . . . . .		1,614

GRADUATION

Art School . . . . .	65
Textile School . . . . .	35

TEXTILE SCHOOL

The Philadelphia Textile School has just closed its fifty-fourth year. The student body was sufficiently large to tax the facilities both as to faculty and general equipment. While the greater portion of students came from Pennsylvania, there were also students from twenty-two other States, and three from foreign countries.

The two lecture courses pertaining to the field of textile economics were well attended, and justified the hopes of their sponsors. Professor H. E. Michl's course on "Problems in Textile Economics" was brought to an interesting conclusion on January 5 by a visit of forty-five students to

New York City as guests of The New York Cotton Exchange. At the headquarters of The National Association of Wool Manufacturers, the students were addressed by Mr. M. D. C. Crawford of the staff of The Fairchild Publishing Company.

Professor A. E. Cameron's lecture course on "Cost and Accounting in Textile Mills" was also well attended.

The upper classes have been taken on visits to numerous textile plants, and on May 17, the Senior Class, by invitation of Colonel W. A. McCain, spent a profitable afternoon inspecting the U. S. Army Quartermasters Depot.

"FIBERGLAS"

The Textile School occupied a booth at the Thirty-fourth Knitting Arts Exhibition, held in Philadelphia April 25-29. Among their exhibits was the showing of a new glass fabric that was woven in the Jacquard Department, utilizing the "Fiberglas" developed by the Owens-Illinois Glass Company. For the first time, fabrics combining fibers with glass were shown in the Annual Exhibition of Students' Work.

DONATIONS TO TEXTILE SCHOOL

The Textile School is deeply indebted to twenty-four firms who have contributed machinery and miscellaneous supplies totaling $2,802. The outstanding gifts were:

Stainless Steel Kier for scouring and bleaching, by Wm. Allen & Sons Company, Worcester, Mass.—value $1,200.

Reconditioning two sample wool cards and putting them in working condition by Proctor & Schwartz, Inc., Philadelphia, Pa.—value $511.

Cadmium-plated flat steel heddles and harness frames by Steel Heddle Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.—value $319.

ART SCHOOL DESIGN

Last year the students in the Design classes in the Art School had assigned to them various problems within the specific limitations of commercial use. This year, enlarging this policy, designs in wall paper were criticised from the standpoint of commercial acceptance. Mr. Henry Allman assigned a problem with specific paper limitations, and later criticised the results from the standpoint of a design buyer.

Art students in the Design course, who last year enrolled in the Textile School Night Class in order to further their work in Textile Pattern Design as worked out on the looms, have this year extended their work into more advanced courses, and have continued the work with notable success.

Upon the request of prospective students, a night class in Industrial Design was tentatively introduced, and met with sufficient response and encouraging results as to justify its continuance and expansion next season.

An ambitious project in collaboration with the Sculpture Department, involving the designing of monumental bronze doors, is well under way and should show interesting results by next term.

Several students of the Design class assisted members of the faculty in the preliminary drafting of designs for flags which in their final form are to be the property of the Philadelphia Museum, a gift from Mr. Atwater Kent.

ILLUSTRATION

This year, in the Illustration course, increased use was made of the motion picture in the teaching of drawing and composition. There has been a great deal of interest exhibited in the field of Art Education as to the development of drawing along these lines, so much so, in fact, that the first comprehensive exhibition of drawings done from the motion picture was held this winter in Boston. Our students in the Illustration class contributed largely to this exhibition, and the work received the highest praise. During the school year, Mr. Herbert Johnson, the famous cartoonist, Mr. Roy Spreter, widely known illustrator, and Mr. Thornton Martin of The Saturday Evening Post were guests of the School and greatly assisted the class by giving special problems and professional criticism.

A considerable amount of professional work was done by the students, including three books, a series of illustrations for a magazine article, and numerous advertising and poster drawings.

ADVERTISING DESIGN

In keeping with the ideas of the class in former years, many activities, outside of regular class problems, have been sponsored. These have included three trips to New York to visit special galleries and exhibits and to get a review of the publicity scene in New York; visits to industrial, cultural, and merchandising events and places in Philadelphia, including an especially arranged meeting with Mr. Leon Marks of the Curtis Publishing Company for the study of reproduction methods.

Among some of the interesting practical problems done by the Advertising Design class this year was in a contest sponsored by The Tasty Baking Company for their outdoor publicity, in which the problem was the creation of new ideas for a current campaign. The prizes were won by Mr. Douglas Franklin, 1st; Mr. Benjamin Greber, 2nd; Mr. Jay Garbutt, Evening School, 3rd. Because of the satisfaction of the Company with the character of the student work, a special Honorable Mention was awarded to Miss Marie Berner.

It is interesting to note the interest the work of the students of the School is promoting in the industrial field. The W. H. Hoedt Studios are offering a prize this year to the student in the graduating Advertising Design class who has produced, in their regard, the best work for advertising purposes. This prize was unsolicited and came as a result of the belief of this Company that students of this school are producing outstanding material.

STAGE-CRAFT COURSE

The Department of Stage-Craft had a very busy season. Seven models were entered in the Stage Model Contest, held annually under the auspices of The Art Alliance. The model for the Stage Set R. U. R. received third prize.

In order to give the advanced students in the Stage-Craft course more practical experience, arrangements were made with the Germantown Theatre Guild to have the students design, paint and erect the scenery for their productions. To this end, they devoted one day a week in the Guild's theatre.

COSTUME DESIGN

The Annual Spring Fashion Show was presented by the students of the Costume Design Department on April 19 and 20 to more than 4,000 persons at the Manufacturers and Bankers Club. The stage settings, with clever vignettes, were designed by the class in Stage-Craft, and represented the 1910 period.

One of the most acclaimed gowns, "White Vision," was selected to represent the work of the Costume Design Department, in the Fifth Fashion

Congress at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel the following week. It was awarded one of the blue ribbons, the highest honor.

Since our Spring Fashion Show enables us to exhibit only those clothes for the spring and summer seasons, and represents the work accomplished for only three months prior to this time, the department showed a smaller and more informal collection of winter coats, suits, and dresses in November.

Two members of the graduating class spent the last five weeks of the School year as apprentices at the establishment of Dorothy Diehl, one of our former students who has a design studio at State College, Pa.

In September and in March, students were given the opportunity of going to New York to see the import collections at Ellerbe Wood, Inc., representing the trend of Paris influence on American fashions. They also attended "Fashion Futures—American Edition" in New York, the largest fashion show given in this country. Others were guests at Fashion Group luncheons in Philadelphia.

POTTERY

Students in the Pottery class were again represented in the Sixth Annual Memorial Exhibition to Mrs. Robineau, at Syracuse. Also, several students in this course were represented in an American Exhibition of Ceramics shown in Paris that was under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts. This exhibition has returned to America and is now on tour in this country.

The School was also represented by two pieces of pottery in a carefully selected exhibition that was sent to Denmark, Sweden, and England.

LIBRARY

Of the sixty-four books added to the Library this year, twenty-one have been gifts. Of these, the Associate Committee of Women have given four volumes of von Boehn's MODES AND MANNERS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY, and the Beta Gamma Sigma Sorority four volumes of von Boehn's MODES AND MANNERS, the eight volumes thus covering the history of costume from Roman times through the 19th century. Mrs. Frank Thorne Patterson's gift of TWENTY BIRDS OF MT. DESERT by Carroll Tyson is also a great addition to the Library. Some two hundred and forty plates and photographs have also been given us.

The Lending Shelf has been much appreciated by the students. We are always glad of donations to this shelf.

The attendance has been very good, 12,000 visits having been paid the Library during the school year. Of that 12,000, 674 of that number represent students from the Night School.

Following is a list of those who have contributed books to the Library:

ASSOCIATE COMMITTEE OF WOMEN	MR. JOHN STORY JENKS
ASSOCIATE COMMITTEE OF WOMEN	MR. THORNTON OAKLEY
(LIBRARY FUND)	MRS. THORNTON OAKLEY
BETA GAMMA SIGMA SORORITY	MRS. FRANK THORNE PATTERSON
CLASS of 1932	MRS. ELI KIRK PRICE
CLASS of 1937	MRS. JOHN WINTERSTEEN
DR. FREDERICK FRALEY	W. P. A. MUSEUM EXTENSION

EXHIBITIONS

Of the exhibits presented in the School's gallery during the year, the most important were: the exhibition of Outdoor Advertising sponsored by the McCandlish Lithograph Corporation; an exhibition of the Lithographs of Daumier; photographs by Alfredo Valente; exhibition of Russian Graphic Art; and a group of Commercial Illustrations from N. W. Ayer & Son.

Representative work in the courses of Drawing, Painting, Perspective, Anatomy, and Modeling is shown in this year's exhibition. A careful study of these different subjects reveals considerably more unification than formerly. We have reason to be encouraged by the fine attitude on the part of the instructors who have sincerely endeavored to bring their work into closer relationship, not only with the major courses but also with each other.

We wish to acknowledge the stimulating effect upon the students of the many prizes offered by the Associate Committee of Women that were presented at the Commencement Exercises, and to thank them, not only for generosity in this matter but also for their most generous help and cooperation in so many matters pertaining to the welfare of the School.

In concluding this report, I wish also to express my appreciation to the President and Officers of the Corporation, to the Trustees, the Committee on Instruction, and the Staff and Faculty.

Respectfully submitted,

Principal.

REPORT OF
THE ASSOCIATE COMMITTEE OF WOMEN
TO THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES

I herewith present the Fiftieth Annual Report of the Associate Committee of Women.

It is with profound sorrow that we announce the death of Mrs. William H. Walbaum who was elected to membership in 1914 and to Honorary Membership in 1932; also the death of Mrs. Charles Wolcott Henry, who became a member of the Committee in 1920 and who was elected to Honorary Membership in 1934. The resignation of Mrs. Charles Francis Griffith was accepted with deep regret. We are happy to welcome as new members, Mrs. Nicholas Biddle, Mrs. Benjamin Rush, Jr., Mrs. William P. Wear and Mrs. John H. Whelen, Jr. The Associate Committee and its members have been extraordinarily active this year in the work at both the Museum and the Schools. The Committee contributed $420 as prize money which provided twenty-seven school prizes. These prizes covered work of the students in Advertising Design, Costume Design, Design Laboratory, Illustration and Decoration, Jewelry, Fashion Illustration and Sketching, and were awarded at the Annual Commencement which was held at the Philadelphia Museum of Art, June 2. Mrs. Logan MacCoy, in the absence of Mrs. Nichols, presented the awards. At the Annual Fashion Show of the Costume Design Department six members of the Committee acted as judges. For some time the Committee has felt that it would be stimulating to the students if one or more of the gowns designed and made by the students were entered in the Annual Fashion Congress. This year the Committee contributed the fee necessary to display one of the gowns. It was a source of gratification to the Associate Committee to have the student's gown awarded a blue ribbon, one of the highest awards.

Members of the Committee have extended to the students in Interior Design the privilege of visiting their homes. These visits are deeply appreciated by both the faculty and the students. Regarding its work at the Museum, the Committee is happy to report that at one of the major exhibitions of the year, the Benjamin West Bicentenary, the Committee arranged an evening reception in connection with its opening and the officers of the Committee received.

During the year two of our members gave delightful parties in connection with the opening of important Museum events. In November, Mrs. John D. McIlhenny gave a reception at the Museum inaugurating the Daumier Exhibition. In December, our Honorary President, Mrs. Frank Thorne Patterson, gave a delightful tea in connection with the opening of the recently installed Spanish Room of the fifteenth century which she so generously gave to the Museum. Mrs. John D. McIlhenny also graciously opened her house for the enjoyment of the entire membership of the Museum on the afternoons of May 2, 3 and 5, on which occasions tea was served. During the celebration held in Philadelphia in October, commemorating the Birth of the Constitution, members of the Committee acted as hostesses in costume of the period in two of the houses of the Colonial Chain, Mount Pleasant and Cedar Grove.

Respectfully submitted,

Nadie C. Waller

Corresponding Secretary.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

TO THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES

In submitting the Treasurer's Report for the fiscal year 1937-1938, there are certain items which seem to be worthy of special mention.

THE MUSEUMS

The Trustees approved in June, 1937, a Museum Budget which called for the raising of approximately $40,000 by voluntary contributions. During the summer of 1937, however, the Federal Project of the Works Progress Administration for Museum Gallery Guides was suddenly stopped. The Corporation was then faced with the difficult task, if the Museums were to be kept open to the public, of raising additional funds to supply the necessary attendants. The officers were encouraged to believe that such additional funds would be forthcoming from the City Treasury, and acting upon such assurances incurred additional expenses for attendants to replace those released. Unfortunately, in this expectation they were to be disappointed and it became necessary to raise additional funds by voluntary contributions to carry on the work of the Museum. The President again assumed this great burden and was successful in raising over $42,000 among his friends to balance the Museum Budget for the fiscal year. In December, 1937, the Federal Project for Gallery Guides was renewed so that from that date the Corporation was relieved of the burden of supplying these additional attendants, which the limited funds of the Museum cannot afford, but which are so necessary for the proper protection of its and the City's valuable collections.

The Corporation, in addition, has contributed sponsor's share of money and materials to carry on work in connection with the installation of new galleries and interiors under Works Progress Administration projects.

THE SCHOOLS

Regarding the work at the Schools, it has been the policy to be cautious in making estimates of expenditures and income. During times of economic stress, schools such as ours, which must depend in large part upon the collection of tuition fees for their successful operation, often are among the first to feel the paralyzing effects of financial distress. We are happy to report that in the year just closed we were fortunate to receive in income, an amount in excess of our estimate, so that we were able to continue the wise policy of reducing the excessive mortgage now placed on the present school building by an additional $15,000.

THE PORTFOLIO OF SECURITIES

The portfolio of our securities has been given constant and careful study by the members of our Committee on Finance whose arduous and disinterested labours cannot be praised too highly. The income received from our invested funds exceeded our estimates. Our endowment has been enriched during the year by over $100,000, principally through the bequest of the late Edward I. H. Howell.

Respectfully submitted,
